LITTLE DOING THUS FAR AL-THOUGH PACKING HOUSES
WILL OPEN SOON.

SEASON TO START IN COUNTY

Slight Delaying Operations Are Made in Past Few Days—Will Start
Shortly.

Local tobacco men are making ready for the season's campaign.
Thus far little has been done in the local warehouses beyond caring for old stock and handling a little of the new, but no large operations have been undertaken. During the coming few days, however, it is expected that the sorting rooms will open and this will mean steady employment for a large number of girls and men. Deliveries are also expected and a general bright outlook is reported for the next few months.

At Edgerton.
The Edgerton report says: "Since the beginning of the new year there has been a disposition to resume the buying of the new crop has developed. The American Tobacco Co. started out a force of buyers bidding for all grades of the crop, for which from 5 to 8 cents is offered, and are making some sales, though growers as yet are not very generally disposed to accept these figures. We learn also that an effort is being made in some sections to buy the filler grades out of crops, for which as high as 3 cents is offered. An occasional sale of early crops is being made but at prices hardly up to the quotations that prevailed at the first buying.

"There is some movement of old leaf to record, both of standard grades and of cheaper grades for export orders. Sanford Soverhill has disposed of 1000s or such a matter and H. T.
Sweeney of about 150 cs for the week.
The largest recent transaction is doubtless the sale of all the damaged tobacco held in the Equity pools in the state, amounting to several hundred cases.

"A few days of easing weather during the week gave growers another opportunity to remove their hanging tobacco, but a cold wave following this has interfered with steady delivery. Deliveries are now being made very plentifully and warehouse handling is in full swing at the packing points.

"The shipments out of storage reach 1900 cases from this market to all points; 12 carloads have been received for handling here."

At Stoughton.
In the Stoughton market, the Courier says: "There is still no great rush for the 1929 tobacco since the growing season, but occasionally purchases are being made at figures ranging from 9 to 10 1/2 cents in the bunch, which cover the choicest goods. The small lot that grew in this section the rains will bring low figures.
Prices now seem to be according to size and quality.

"A deal was made this week with McCarthy Bros. by Anfin Moon for Doddfield, who represent Rossmore Bros. & Co., or rather the successors to that firm, for a packing of 1900, consisting of 27cs, about 8 acres, at 15 cents a pound. Though the price is high the shrinkage in the past seven years must have been considerable. Nordness Bros. sold to Mr.
Moon their 1907 at 10 cents. John McLellan had 36cs for Mr. Moon, who paid 9 cents a pound. The American Cigar company expects to open its large warehouse for sorting and packing about January 15. C. M. Hinton has been up around Waunakee receiving some 1908 crops.

"H. O. Gaugstad of Liberty Prairie was in Stoughton Tuesday. He recently delivered his 1908 tobacco at Doddfield, receiving 10 cents a pound.
It brought $170 per acre.

"J. E. Brickson sold and delivered a carload of 1907 tobacco to Hugh Sweeney of Edgerton Tuesday. The terms were private.

"J. H. Campbell, for the United Cigar company, bought of Charles Patterson 9 acres and of Frank Patterson 10 acres of tobacco at 10 cents a pound in the bunch."

At Orfordville.
At Orfordville, the Journal says:
"Will McIntosh of Edgerton was in this neighborhood Wednesday looking after the purchase of tobacco.

"The A. Schrodle Tobacco company shipped three cars of tobacco from here to their warehouse at Stoughton on Monday. There was something like 60 acres loaded in that day.

"We visited the large H. S. Hensgard tobacco warehouse last Tuesday and it is indeed quite a sight to see the large crews of men busily engaged in sorting and boxing the tobacco. The house commenced receiving the 1908 crop of tobacco the first of the year and between 12 and 14 hundred cases or about 455,000 pounds is expected to be delivered. Mr. Hensgard says the grade is good as a rule. Mr.
Hensgard has been in the tobacco business for about twenty-six years and is one of the most practical men in this part of the state. In 1906 he paid as high as $300 per acre for tobacco at Edgerton, but it was a bumper crop.
The price paid to growers is 75c per hundred pounds."

FEW REALIZE THE FOREST WEALTH

Report on the Present Condition of the Forest Reserves of United States.

Few people have anything like a clear idea of the amount of forest wealth left in this country. Those who think of all about this natural resource which has assisted in material development since the landing of the first settlers are usually too much influenced by the condition of that particular state or section in which they are most familiar.

If they live in a much deforested or a treeless region, the people usually imagine that the country's timber supply is even more limited than it actually is the fact; on the other hand, with those whose homes are located in a section where a pinch in timber has not been experienced, the feeling is likely to be altogether the other way, and some become so indifferent at times as to think that there is really not much reason to worry about a timber problem. Both can profit by a reading of the actual facts.

GOD'S MESSAGE

REV. J. A. MCINTYRE PREACHES
FROM OLD TESTAMENT

INHERITING THE EARTH

Rev. J. C. Hazen at Baptist Church
Gives Strong Address Sunday Morning.

"We have lived long enough in this world," was the text of the Rev. J.
A. McIntyre, yesterday morning in Richards Memorial church, the United Brethren.

"The text is taken from the sixteenth chapter of Deuteronomy," he said, "and leads to a discourse upon the government of human life by God. All law that we have today is founded upon that ordained by God and revealed through Moses. The principles of all law have remained the same.

"When God said to the children of Israel: 'Ye have lived long enough in this world,' implied that they were to die without delay. He did not mean that they should have time to prepare for death. It was his will that they should die. We would have been like the Israelites. We would have wanted ten days' notice, or time to have a committee meeting, or at least a few days' grace in which to fulfill our social engagements. But if God says to a man or to a nation that they have lived long enough in this world, that man or that nation should prepare himself to die."

"The Israelites, hearing the will of God, a little reluctantly but confidently set out towards Canaan, and their divine leader was represented by a cloud which followed night and day, knowing it to be Jehovah. For the government of Jehovah is a disturbance element, both in the life of a nation or of an individual. I should call this disturbing element progress.

STOCK COMPANY HAS CLOSED ENGAGEMENT

Ends Week's Run at the Myers Thea-

Saturday Night.
"And a little child shall lead them"
is the theme of the play, "A Brother's Revenge," which was given at Myers theatre Saturday evening, by the Lat-more & Leigh Stock company. The purpose of the play, which is a Southern melodrama, is to portray the life of the mountaineer, and this company succeeded in doing it very well.
The plot of the story is woven around the feud which exists between the Carter and Robbins families. The child which is born of the marriage of Carter's daughter and the son of Robbins, is the cause of the final breaking up of the feud. Miss La-Porte does not take as much of a part in this play as she has been doing the rest of the week, but her acting was as good as it has been during the engagement. Al. Warner, as Zack Reynolds maintained the same high character work in his representation.
Joe Monroe continued to bring down the house as the colored servant of the Carters.

FARM LABOR A VERY PERPLEXING PROBLEM

Commissioner of Labor Back at Madison Has Been Besieged With Applications for Laborers

The question of farm labor for the year 1929 promises to be a problem of no mean proportion. The Commissioner of Labor, J. D. Beck of Madison, is being besieged with applications from farmers all over the state for farm help, either by the month or by the year. There are a great many more farmers asking for help than there appears to be men wanting in these positions. During the hard times last year, the commissioner succeeded in placing over 1200 men out of work in the cities upon farms at wages ranging from $20 to $35 a month, including board and washing, and varying according to the past experience of the farm hand and his training for the work. Those offering places for $35 per month are generally for married men without children. At these rates of wages any young man is better off financially and otherwise on the farm than in the city where there are so many attractions to lead him away from his work and to induce him to spend his money for purposes that do many times worse than nothing. The commissioner is now receiving many applications for help to begin work in March or April and many of them to begin at once. Young men and married men desiring to secure work on farms should write the commissioner of labor at once in order that he may put them in communication with farmers desiring help. Farmers desiring help should do the same.

The commissioner also has many requests for girls to work in many of the best homes in the state at wages ranging from $3 to $5 per week, including board and washing. Girls desiring such places should address the commissioner of labor, stating their wants, and send references. Persons desiring the help of girls should also write him.

FOOTVILLE HAS SERIOUS BLAZE

ENTIRE VILLAGE THREATENED
BY CONFLAGRATION ON SUNDAY.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH BURNED

Flames Discovered Burning From Windows An Hour And A Half After Service Was Over in the Morning.

Fire Sunday afternoon entirely destroyed the Christian church at Foot-ville and for a time threatened the entire village, flying sparks lighting on roofs and buildings a quarter of a mile from the burning church.
Prompt work of a bucket brigade,
however, saved adjoining buildings and confined the loss to the church structure.

Church services were held in the church in the morning and it was twelve forty-five before the doors were locked. At two-twenty Charles Richard, who lives near the building, saw flames and smoke pouring from the windows and sounded the alarm but nothing could be done to save the structure as the fire had too good a headway before discovery.

The entire village turned out, and many came from the country to see what they could. A strong northeast wind was blowing and for a time it looked as though the entire village might catch fire from the flying embers and sparks. A bucket brigade was formed and the bits of fire were put out by prompt work as soon as they reached a dangerous locality.

The structure was the largest and handsomest in the village and was most modern in its equipment. It had a large church proper and two Sunday school rooms. It was heated by two furnaces and lighted by a private gas plant. It is thought the fire originated from an overheated furnace although the real cause will probably not be known owing to the fact the building was burning so fiercely when discovered no one could enter.

The loss is about $1000, covered by insurance for $1800 in the Town of Center Insurance company. The church will be rebuilt as soon as possible although it is probable it will not be on the same ground as the old building. Temporary quarters will be secured during the present week so that the services can be held as usual.

Services were being held in the burned church by Rev. McFadyen, of Richland Center, and he had closed his morning services less than two hours before the building was destroyed. Rev. Harry Bullock, the regular pastor, was in Richland Center conducting services in Mr. Mc-Fadyen's church and has been notified of the loss of his church.

Last evening the regular services were held in the Methodist church, that congregation offering the use of their building to the burned out church. Three years ago the other Christian church in the town of Center, was burned to the ground during a thunder storm, being struck by a bolt of lightning.

The Footville church had a hundred members and was the largest and richest congregation in the town.
Considerable corn fodder in a field near the fire was destroyed but the loss outside that of the church will be minimal. But for prompt work of the bucket brigade the entire village would have been destroyed.

MAN OF NOBLE BIRTH IS TRIED

FOR MURDER OF WIFE—SHOT
HER ON XMAS DAY.

RALEIGH HIS ANCESTOR

Can Trace His Descent in Direct Line From Queen Elizabeth's Favorite.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Boston, Mass., Jan. 11.—Dr. Walter Raleigh Amesbury, a Hyde Park physician who traces his descent in a direct line from Sir Walter Raleigh, was arraigned for trial today on a charge of having shot his wife dead a year ago at their Christmas dinner. Upon the testimony of the two sons of the accused man, who saw their mother shot dead as she sat down to dinner—a dinner which had been arranged for a family reunion following a separation of the family—the government depends largely to support the charge against the doctor.

The sons have never visited their father during the year he has spent in jail awaiting trial. The doctor accepts his predicament philosophically and feels that he comes naturally to a fate filled with vicissitudes. Like his illustrious ancestor, of whom he speaks freely, he has had wealth and has lost it and his adventures in many hands have been varied. Many of the events of his career have come about through chance. One of his sons married Dr. Richard Hughes, a famous English homeopathist, who came to America to lecture at Boston university. Through his uncle's counsel Dr. Amesbury came to Boston to study. His first wife, who was the daughter of General Ingalls, a royal engineer, died in 1883.

From Cincinnati had come a talented young musician, Anna Vattier Edwards, who after being graduated from a conservatory in Cincinnati, came to Boston to further cultivate her voice at the New England Conservatory of Music. The young student, already a veteran of British army campaigns, and the sweet voiced young woman from the west, after a brief courtship were married.

In these latter years, when Dr. Amesbury's resources became less bountiful than they had been, Mrs. Amesbury relied upon her musical training as a means of independent livelihood. For a time she was soloist at Grace church, the most fashionable church in Providence. Then she became a professor of vocal culture at Bowdoin college, in Virginia.

It is contended by the prosecution that Dr. Amesbury's sons were anxious that their homes might be re-established and that they and their grandmother had induced Mrs. Amesbury to return from Virginia for Christmas and had induced the father to come from Readville, where he had established an office. It is insisted that the family had just been seated when the parents resumed the difficulties which had estranged them. The sons asserted that Dr. Amesbury drew a revolver and fired two shots into the breast of the beautiful singer, who ran screaming from the suite and fell dead in a neighbor's parlor. The two sons immediately leaped upon the father and battled with him for ten minutes before help came. The physician's practice had been limited, and the prosecution maintains that he was jealous of his wife's accomplishments.

Alibiists who have examined Dr. Amesbury have reported that he is sane, and therefore if convicted he cannot escape punishment. If he should be found guilty of murder in the first degree this law process will remove the direct heir of a large estate in Devonshire, England, which is the native birth of the famous Sir Walter Raleigh.

Dr. Amesbury is the next claimant to an estate now held by Edward Raleigh of Dartmouth, England. This estate was acquired in 1860 by the Amesburys and the Raleighs, during service in India, and has been increased by investment. It passes to the oldest son of a generation. Upon the death of the present holder this estate would logically pass to the doctor who faces trial, as he is the oldest son of nine children of Surgeon General Joseph Walter Raleigh Amesbury. The authenticity of the doctor's genealogy and claims have been carefully examined in England, and an extended chart of the descendants of Sir Walter Raleigh is now in possession of Dr. Amesbury's counsel.

OVER 11,000 DEER KILLED LAST YEAR

Record for the Year Nineteen Eight is Beyond Previous Reports That Have Been Made.

According to the official record at the state fish and game warden's office, 12,268 deer were transported in Wisconsin the past season. This is 712 more than in 1907, when the number was 5,556.

These figures do not give the total number killed, as it is impossible to get reliable information on that. Hundreds of deer were slain and eaten in camp, while a large number were transported by wagon to neighboring towns. Warden Stone estimates that at least 11,000 were killed. Last year the figures were about 10,000.

Most of the deer were slain the latter part of the season. At the opening of the time for deer, November 10, the woods were dry, and hunters had difficulty in approaching game. With the first snowfall many were brought down, but the following warm and wet weather led many animals to leave with one dead before the meat had spoiled, rather than take the chance of waiting for cold weather or snow. At the end of the time, November 30, there was a great rush in the business.

Just as the figures for the number of deer slain in 1908 were greater, so the number of non-resident licenses was also increased. This year 275 deer and 363 small game permits to non-residents netted $10,115, as against 217 deer and 360 small game licenses in 1907, bringing in $9,775.

In spite of the fact that more game was bagged, the number of deaths through the states was smaller. Only 57 persons were accidentally killed, as against 72 in 1907 and 74 in 1906. The total of injured shows an in-

NOTED CRIMINAL IS LANDED IN A CELL

George Frankhauser, Train Robber,
With Fifteen Thousand Dollar
Reward Is Under Arrest.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 11.—George Frankhauser, train robber with $15,000 reward upon his head, is safely behind the bars in the new city and county jail, charged with holding up the Great Northern's Oriental Limited at Round, Mont., in 1907, and robbing the United States mails of $50,000, and under strong suspicion of being the man who held up the Northern Pacific's crack Limited at Whitehall, Mont., two years ago, the most notorious and high handed train robbery which was ever perpetrated in the west, and which resulted in the murder of an engineer.

Frankhauser does not look like a train robber. He looks more like a fairly shrewd tramp, and the manner of his coming to grief was quite in keeping with the latter role. Suspected murderer, acknowledged train robber, and desperate as ever a western bandit was, he was arrested by a town constable at Moorhead, charged with petty box-car robberies. Moorhead is an important railway point, across the Red river from Fargo, another railway center. The yards are usually checked with laden cars, and conspicuous depredations brought the train robber under suspicion. Once behind the bars in the Moorhead jail, however, Frankhauser instantly showing the cunning and resource which time and time again has extracted him from similar predicaments. By an accident, Joe Lemere, a French Canadian was discovered in an attempt to pass splendidly made but the slow-witted French Canadian tool in doing his thing as a result. Several other attempts of like character, coming unexpectedly and from sources which baffled the sagacity of the local officers to uncover or forest them out, made them sigh with great relief when Marshal H. A. Ridder in behalf of the United States, relieved them of the dangerous prisoner and brought him to Saint Paul. Ridder's movements have been mysterious to a degree, and Frankhauser is here, under the strongest guard, when according to the opinion of well informed men, it would have been the accustomed procedure of the government to try him in the federal district in which his crime was committed. His formal hearing is in progress before the United States commissioner, and the next moves of the government are carefully veiled.

Frankhauser, more properly Joe Wolf, is in a class by himself for nerve and brazen defiance of law and its officers. After robbing the Oriental Limited he proceeded without apparent precautions across 2,000 miles of territory literally dotted with men looking for him, to Seattle, arriving there with $13,000 in his clothes and a trail of red behind him, for every gambling house and dive en route had known his largess. He was captured and returned to Helena, but broke jail with the greatest ease and since that time has been suspected of a number of crimes from train robbery to common hold-ups, and which bear his hall-mark, but with which at the present time it seems impossible to connect him.

Mean to Do Things Thoroughly.

A Chicago woman suffragist accuses Adam of being a loafer and bringing about all the trouble. It took a long time to turn the tables on the original man behind the theory that a woman is always to blame for everything, but now that the suffragettes have started to even things, it is fearful evidence of their thoroughness that they are starting at the beginning.—Baltimore American.

HERE IS WHAT W. H. KRAMER, THE FLORIST OF WASHINGTON, D. C., SAYS IN ANSWER TO THE QUESTION,

"DOES YOUR ADVERTISING PAY?"

It might be well to state that Mr. Kramer has made about three-fourths of a million dollars in the retail florist business.

In answer to your question, "Does my advertising pay?" I want to ask you if you suppose for an instant that I am constantly pulling off double page, full page and half page ads just to satisfy my vanity by seeing my name in print, or out of a spirit of charity for the needy newspapers? No, sir! I am after the dollars.

A man who whispers down a well,
About the goods he has to sell,
Will not reap the golden gleaming dollars,
As one who climbs a tree and hollers.

When I was down at the foot of life's ladder, I used to put eggs under a setting hen. Not to tickle her vanity but to produce more chickens.

I applied the setting hen idea to advertising. Placed hundreds of dollars in printer's ink and hatched thousands.

Newspaper advertising is the kind for retail returns. The newspaper. It's the one place people go every day.

Now don't let me mislead you to thinking that advertising is a magic way of making money.

You can't produce healthy results from poor advertising any quicker than you can hatch healthy chickens from bad eggs.

MUST PICK OUT A GOOD HEN.

I try to exercise the same great care in selecting mediums and advertising copy as I formerly used with hens and eggs.

While there are four "best" newspapers in Washington, I use only one—the best.

Some people think it mighty hard to determine which medium is the one for them to use after several clever solicitors, representing as many propositions, get through with them.

I go further than the little piece each of these copy rushers speaks—right to the newspaper itself.

You can judge the character of a newspaper's circulation best by examining its columns.

I pick the Times in Washington as being the one paper reaching the most of the kind of people I want to do business with.

A BIG AD IN THE BEST PAPER.

No doubt there are some would-be patrons reading the other papers, but not in sufficient number to warrant the cost of advertising.

Better a big, strong, attractive ad in the best paper—the one that reaches the most of your kind of people—than a little, weak ad that you have to hunt for, yourself—in all four "best" papers.

Anyway, in every town, and in every line, the one really best paper pretty well covers the field. You don't miss many buyers by concentrating your fire.

THE QUESTION OF COPY.

In raising chickens I always used to set a hen on her own eggs. In that way her actual laying and hatching worth were quickest realized.

This idea I apply to advertising—made the advertising hen (the newspaper) set on her own eggs.

I did this by using advertisements prepared by the newspaper's own "copy" department.

I argued with myself this way: "Kramer, you know flowers as a florist—newspaper man can't tell you anything about how to grow stock. Now, why shouldn't a man who has made the preparation of advertising copy his life work be able to produce better-pulling ad-vertisements than you could? If the copy man is onto his job, he knows how to touch the responsive chord in the readers of his paper as effectively as you know how to force flowers. Try out such a copy man, and keep your own fingers out of his pie."

So I sent for the Times copy man.

In came a little fellow so demure he couldn't sell dollar bills at a quarter a piece, and I began to think I had better write my own copy if I wanted any red blood and money-pulling vigor in it. However, I pulled up a chair for the chap with the delicate air and started in to tell him in a monotone what was wanted.

HOW KRAMER GOT STARTED.

Out came his pencil and paper, and the first words the diminutive one uttered came out clean and sharp: "Now, Mr. Kramer, let's have it—your whole idea—don't be afraid to repeat—talk fast as you like."

After recovering from my first astonishment at the fellow's change of front, I started in and unburdened the disjointed thoughts that had been crowding my mind for weeks. How that chap got half that was dead beats me. "Shorthand" he called it.

After I had finished he cross-examined me—wanted to know reasons for this, reasons for that—piled me with question after question. Next day he came around with the copy. The following day we used it.

Since then my advertising has been appearing in the Washington Times regularly.

Results? Well, if you want results from retail advertising, make the hen set on her own eggs. If she don't produce, get a new hen.

This isn't any part of my story, but the fact is the Times copy department, a new factor in Washington newspaperdom, is building up advertising columns as bright and entertaining as the news with which they serve their readers every day. It's the biggest thing any newspaper ever did for its advertisers; a service given complimentary—and, by the way, this is a suggestion for every progressive florist.

PROGRAMS DON'T PAY.

I have at times used whole pages in theatre programs, offering inducements to equal the value of the purchase, with no results; also in programs for church fairs, bazars, and entertainments of all kinds, with practically no results, only favoring the solicitor who may happen to be a customer.

I know all florists are liberal in donating, and I am a firm believer in liberality; it pays.

I also believe that if, for instance, your payroll in your store is $100 per week, your advertising expenditure should equal that amount.

I know from personal experience that I got results, and I furthermore believe in advertising something that people want, when they want it, and at a price that will make your ad attractive.

I also believe in having up-to-date, catchy copy—no stock stuff, but something original, and change it with every ad.

My advice is, if you advertise, don't look for the best results at once, but keep at it—don't get cold feet. It will only take patience and time, but it will come.

A REAL PALM SALE.

I always have a palm sale every fall. I don't merely advertise it a palm sale, but make it a palm sale.

For instance, I use a four-inch kentia or areca, which I sell practically at cost, and advertise them strongly, even with signs that cover the whole of my delivery wagons.

By doing so I get results, of course, with a loss of several hundred dollars and no profit on the palms.

But the public knows I had a palm sale. Why? Because I gave a real bargain, but where I realize is on the future trade.

Never be afraid to use bait, and use it freely. Fish don't bite all the time, and when they don't you shouldn't be afraid to use fresh bait. To my mind, here is a good example:

FREE ROSE PLANTS A HIT.

The latter part of last June I had a surplus of about 20,000 rose plants left over. I could not sell them, so I inserted a small ad to read like this:

"Free—10,000 rose bushes—one to each person!"

Imagine my surprise, the next morning, when I went to open my store, to find the place besieged by a mob.

In half an hour I was compelled to call for officers to keep the people in line. I was compelled to close my other two places of business and even called in my greenhouse force to help handle the crowd. And by night we had given out over 16,000 plants!

The results were that in my three places of business I did not take in a single cent that day—and it was the hardest day's work we ever did.

The question from everywhere was, "Did it pay?"

Why, yes! I think it did; not then, but since.

Advertising is not at all a gamble.

F. H. KRAMER.

MOUTH BEAUTY

You should have your teeth examined regularly by a competent dentist. Delay only increases the final cost. Personal beauty is impossible without mouth beauty, and mouth beauty is teeth beauty.

Then, too, teeth have a remarkable influence for good or ill upon the general health.

Come up any time as you go by, and let me tell you more about this subject.

You will not be importuned to have the work done—though I'll be glad to examine your mouth, and make an estimate as to the cost of the work. This estimate will be reasonable.

ELLSWORTH CASE IS AGAIN HEARD

INTERESTING DEVELOPMENTS IN THE PRELIMINARY HEARING.

DEFENDANT ON THE STAND

Denies Giving Certain Presents to the Complainant, Mrs. Kennedy—Tells of Presents Received.

This morning in municipal court the preliminary hearing of Elsworth Ellsworth was reopened. District Attorney J. L. Fisher called Mr. Ellsworth to the stand and began the cross-examination.

Various articles alleged to have been given to Mrs. Kennedy by Mr. Ellsworth were introduced as evidence into the case by the state. Among the articles shown were postal cards, a receipt, letters, gifts of jewelry, a shawl, handkerchiefs, and a beautiful little piece of sentimental poetry. Most of the gifts Mr. Ellsworth denied as having been given to Mrs. Kennedy by him.

Mr. Fisher opened the case by showing a number of postal cards which Mr. Ellsworth admitted as having been given to Mrs. Kennedy. A receipt and a letter were also shown to Mr. Ellsworth, he replying that the signatures were his. Also a letter sent from the Palmer House, Chicago.

The next evidence brought forth was a copy of the issue of the Janesville Daily Gazette of December 16, 1907, in which was published an account of the death of Mrs. Mary Ellsworth. In this article it stated that Mrs. Kennedy was a schoolmate of Elsworth's. Mr. Fisher questioned Mr. Ellsworth whether he gave the statement to Mr. Watt, Mr. Ellsworth saying that he did.

An objection was made by Attorney Nolan as the question was immaterial and made no difference. Mr. Fisher's reply was that it made a difference of $550 to Mrs. Kennedy, and that if the judge would allow him to continue he would show what he wished to bring out.

Mr. Ellsworth told that the information he gave was taken from a letter which he received from an aunt. Mr. Fisher then questioned the defendant if he had on the day following gone to the home of Mrs. Kennedy and went over the death of Mrs. Kennedy and showed to them a copy of the paper containing a notice of the death and borrowed $200.

Mr. Ellsworth said that he did not usually cry and that he had not exhibited the paper nor have a conversation with them, nor borrowed $200 to probate the estate.

He also denied having told of a will of Mrs. Kennedy's which he is said to have declared was stolen by relatives and then up and buried in the woods. Also denied that he secured $300 to probate the will, which had been found in the woods and turned over to an attorney.

On motion of Attorney Nolan the court ruled that the witnesses be excluded from the room during the presentation of certain portions of the testimony.

The district attorney next brought up in his cross-examination the episode in Milwaukee in which Mrs. Poonchee signed a note for her brother-in-law. Mr. Fisher first asked Mr. Ellsworth if he had met Mrs. Kennedy in Milwaukee and the defendant stated that he had twice, once when he met Mrs. Poonchee, he admitted that Mrs. Poonchee had to sign a note but denied that he knew whether Mrs. Kennedy had brought her there to see him, or that he had taken Mrs. Kennedy to the train on that day.

Mr. Ellsworth said in answer to questions that he did not contrive with Mrs. Kennedy to meet him in Madison as she alleged him of doing nor did he while there borrow from her $250. He said that he was there and that she followed him, having heard him remark to someone that he was going there.

In regard to gifts given by Ellsworth to the plaintiff, Mr. Fisher asked the defendant if he loved Mrs. Kennedy. Also, if he had ever given her any other gifts of jewelry besides the ruby.

Mr. Ellsworth said that he did not love Mrs. Kennedy nor had he presented her with any other gifts than postal cards to all her friends.

After the question of Mr. Ellsworth's feelings toward Mrs. Kennedy, Mr. Fisher asked: "Do you give presents to people you do not like?"

"No, but I have given gifts to those with whom I have a friendship."

"Did you ever give Mr. Kennedy any gifts?"

"Nothing besides cigars and things like that."

An expensive white shawl was shown to the defendant who said he had never seen it before. A book, "The Path of Our Fathers," was offered in evidence, Mr. Ellsworth saying he never made presents of books.

A perfume case and a bottle of Lazzoli's perfume, a set of combs, horse-shoe brooch, a gold chain and a gold heart locket Mr. Ellsworth denied as being among the gifts which he presented.

He said he had purchased several lockets since he had been here but did not give any to Mrs. Kennedy, the others being given to a cousin, a friend and a party in Iowa.

A heart locket and box with handwriting were shown and while he was at first uncertain as to whether he had written it, he finally denied that the writing was his.

A postal card and piece of poetry were shown to the defendant; the postal card he admitted but did not know in what way it reached her, thinking that he gave it to her in the post office. The poetry which and other allusions to sentiment was not read in court, but was shown to Mr. Ellsworth as having been sent to the plaintiff in a box of roses.

He admitted having received from Mrs. Kennedy various gifts such as lockets, shirts, vests, stick pins and a five dollar gold piece.

The defendant admitted having kept the vest, locket, stick pin and a few other articles, but returned the gold piece, saying that she presented him with a ten dollar gold piece shortly after. Military hair brushes sent to him at the hotel were not given back. He said that he had on several occasions told Mrs. Kennedy that it "was not proper for her to give him these things."

At the noon hour the case was adjourned until one-thirty this afternoon when the prosecution continued the cross-examination of the defendant.

While there was a large crowd present this morning, this afternoon the courtroom was packed to the doors with curious people who wanted to hear and see the details of the examination.

In the examination of Ellsworth this afternoon, his past career was gone over by the district attorney. Ellsworth testified that he had gone by the name of Taylor in his youth because that was his grandparents' name. Afterwards he had taken the name of George E. Guthrie, which was the name of his stepfather. Under this name he was married twice. Two years ago he learned from his aunt that his father's name was Ellsworth, which name he has taken ever since.

Concerning his places of residence, he was asked of the length of his stay in Quincy and other places, and what years he was there.

Mr. Fisher asked him if his recollection of his age had changed from what he gave at the trial the first time. Mr. Ellsworth replied that his age was 31 1/2 years when he was arrested. He said that he was asked by Nan Molock what he did not know what it was.

In the questioning as to the names under which he had been known the district attorney asked him if he had ever taken the name of George E. Campbell. Mr. Ellsworth replied "No." Other names submitted were G. Ellsworth and Henry Johnson.

The district attorney then asked for and was granted process of five minutes to get more evidence. On returning he presented to the defendant for identification, some of the evidence which had been brought forth by the defense in the former hearing.

Certain notes handed to him by Mrs. Kennedy were identified by Mr. Ellsworth and he told himself as to possible the circumstances under which he received the missives. "At three o'clock the box in which the bogus ruby was held was shown to Mr. Ellsworth and he told that it was made for him in January of last year."

DEFEATED BELOIT IN BASKET BALL GAME

Intermediate Five at Y. M. C. A. Victory by an Overwhelming Margin.

On Saturday evening the Y. M. C. A. Intermediate basketball five, which, like the Tenth Legion of ancient Rome, has not yet given up to defeat—at least so far as this season is concerned—voluntarily came to the ground from under the Beloit team in the Janesville Y. headquarters and added another victory unto themselves by a triumph score of 86 to 4.

The down-river team played a nervy game, but couldn't cope with the speed and accuracy of the locals. Capt. Field's men clearly showed their superiority. The star goal-getters under his leadership were Fleming, with a total of nineteen baskets, and G. Robertson, with a total of seven.

The guarding of Johnson and Wilkinson of the Y team were also sufficient features of the evening, while Field and Robertson at forward played a fast and furious game.

The next game the association agrees in to occur on the 22d of January. It again pits Janesville Y against the city team of Waterloo.

CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING SATURDAY

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smalley Were Married Fifty Years Last Saturday.

Milton Junction, Jan. 11.—On Saturday, January 9th, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smalley were surprised by twenty-five of their friends who came to help them celebrate their fiftieth wedding anniversary. A delicious luncheon was served and presents of gold were given them by the self-invited guests. Mr. and Mrs. Smalley were married in Edgerton and have lived in Milton Junction for forty-one years. Mr. Smalley is 78 years old and in good health and Mrs. Smalley is about 70 years old. Out of town guests were their daughter, Mrs. Pearl Hill and family of Janesville, and another daughter, Mrs. Ida Haukin and family of Beloit.

FUNERAL WILL BE HELD ON TUESDAY.

On Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock the funeral of the late Cornelius Stout will be held from his late residence on South High street, near Stout died on Friday last at Janesville, Wis., and his remains reached Janesville last evening at 8 o'clock. Members of I. O. O. F. Lodge No. 90, of which he was a member, will participate in the services. Services will also be held at the chapel at Oak Hill where interment will take place.

MRS. EDWARD C. BAUMANN DIES OF TYPHOID SUNDAY MORNING
Passes Away Shortly After Ten—Her Husband and Two Children Still Very Ill.

Mrs. Edward C. Baumann passed away Sunday morning shortly after ten o'clock at her home, 14 North Wisconsin street, after a prolonged illness of typhoid fever. Her husband, Edward C. Baumann, is still in a critical condition from the same disease and two children—Harold, aged three, and Lorraine, aged five—are slowly recovering. A third infant, Franklin, passed away from the same trouble a month ago. Mrs. Baumann was born on July 28, 1875, in Watertown and was married seven years ago. Funeral services will be held at the chapel in Oak Hill cemetery tomorrow at ten o'clock, a prayer being read by Reverend John Koerner, and the remains will rest in the vault until her husband is able to attend the regular funeral services. He had not yet been informed of his wife's death owing to his own critical condition.

New Tobacco Sparing Machine.

The Tobacco Machinery company of Milwaukee has just issued a circular giving description and picture of their new machine for tobacco sparing. It is said to do the work of three men for the price of a few cents worth of gasoline. The small metal fingers that push the plant onto the lathe do far less harm to the leaves than human hands. Some think it will revolutionize the industry of tobacco raising—enabling one farmer to handle two or three times as large a crop as he can at present. Circulars can be obtained from P. T. Terry, Manager, 424 Wells Bldg., Milwaukee.

THREE SENTENCED BY COURT TO THE JAIL

Man Given Fifteen Days for Begging—Two Drunks Also Go Down for Short Terms.

This morning in municipal court R. T. Northway was brought up to answer for the charge of begging on the streets of Janesville. Northway pleaded not guilty, saying that he had been working here in Janesville and when arrested was about to accept a friend's invitation to have a drink. He said that he has been working here since Tuesday and wished to be allowed to go back to work or to go to Edgerton. Chief Appleby testified that Northway had been working for the Janesville Machine company, having secured a position by telling an untrue fact that he had learned the trade facts had let him go. His landlord, George Laxton, of the International Hotel, corroborated him for his board. He then changed his plea to guilty and was sentenced to fifteen days in the county jail.

William Lemon, arrested for drunkenness, pleaded guilty, and was sentenced to thirteen days in jail.

W. T. Kelly appeared to answer for a vagrancy charge. He pleaded at first not guilty, saying that he had not been working and he had been drinking the judge gave him a sentence of fifteen days.

BOYS' MINISTER AT HIGH SCHOOL TODAY

Reverend L. W. Snyder Talks to Students of High School This Morning.

The Rev. Dr. Leonard W. Snyder of Hornwood, Ohio, known as "The Boys' Minister of America," was a transient in Janesville today and yesterday and spoke Sunday afternoon at the Young Men's meeting in the Y. M. C. A. and this morning at the local high school in the assembly hall.

His detailed address was delivered to the high school students. It was a thirty-minute talk on "The Secret of Success," in the course of it Dr. Snyder impersonated a cigarette viceroy and simulated a swaggering attitude with a view to deterring Young America from becoming addicted to the "cotton-wool." To add to the realism of his exhortations, Dr. Snyder rolled a cigarette and smoked it himself to illustrate the process. He goes to Duluth high school tomorrow morning and thence to Texas, and later to Arizona.

Ladies of the Maccabees Installation Rock River High No. 71 will hold their installation of officers on Tuesday evening, January 12. Every member is requested to be present promptly at seven o'clock.

L. C. MRS. MINNIE MCNETT.

SPERRY AT NAPLES

Admiral Arrives with Four American Battleships.

WARM SESSION OF DEPUTIES

Government Relief Measures Adopted After Methods Are Severely Criticized—Supplies from the Bayern and Culgoa Landed at Messina.

Naples, Jan. 11.—Rear Admiral Sperry sailed into port here at dawn yesterday, with the United States battleships Connecticut, Vermont, Kansas and Minnesota, whose help was offered to Italy for the relief of the quako victims. The vessels dropped anchor between the battleship Rendetta and the cruiser San Giorgio of the Italian navy.

The admiral sent a ship to meet the vessels, to inform the American commanders that because of the national mourning and as a result of the earthquake the government and the duke of Aosta would not require them to fire salutes on entering the port.

Three Go to Villefranche. The Vermont, Kansas and Minnesota have gone on to Villefranche, where they are due into this afternoon.

The Italian admiral and port officers visited the Connecticut to pay their respects to Rear Admiral Sperry and express appreciation for American sympathy and aid. Admiral Sperry returned the visit to the duke of Aosta and the other officials today.

Relief Bill Adopted.

Rome, Jan. 11.—The special meeting of the chamber of deputies, which was called for the purpose of considering the adoption of measures of relief for the devastated provinces of southern Italy, was marked by eloquent expressions of sympathy and grief at the terrible disaster. The government measures for the relief of the sufferers, which were entrusted to a parliamentary committee, were finally adopted by a vote of 406 to 5. The dissenting votes were greeted with howls and hisses, while prolonged applause followed the announcement of the result.

Some of the members of the chamber, particularly those who participated in the rescue work, criticized the relief organization, especially the decision of the government to intrust it to the military authorities.

State of Siege Denounced.

The proclamation of a state of siege in the stricken zone was denounced on the ground that it contributed to the isolation of towns and villages.

Deputy Felice, whose brother was killed at Messina, shouted during the course of a fiery speech: "If I had been in charge, we would have saved half of Messina."

Premier Giolitti explained that the government had adopted measures which were rendered absolutely indispensable by the gravity of the circumstances. He declared that the military authorities had never asked that a state of siege be proclaimed, but that it was only thought of when the prefect of Messina had notified him that looting had begun on a large scale. It was made necessary by the presence among the ruins of bands of pillagers and the stringent measures had proved effective.

More Americans Safe.

United States consul Bishop at Palermo has telegraphed the American embassy here giving the following list of Americans as being safe there:

Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Frazer, Miss Grant, Whitford Robbins, Mr. and Mrs. Wilcox and Dr. Wilcox; Samuel Belongues and wife, Mrs. Doughton and children, Mrs. Higgins and P. E. Whiggins and son, Mrs. Cameron and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Goodwin, Mrs. Nims and son, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. De Gherrie, Mr. and Mrs. Kroger, A. Clinton, L. N. Homingway, R. W. Gilbert, Charles Haggard and wife, Mrs. M. E. Williams, Mrs. T. E. Cahore, Miss Best, Miss Kendall, Mr. and Mrs. Crawford, Mr. and Mrs. Pappas, Mrs. A. E. Jordan, the Messas Eppos, Mrs. Hunt and daughters, and Miss Brock.

Good Weather for Victims.

Messina, Jan. 11.—Rainy weather has prevailed for the past two or three days at this place, and it is a great blessing, making it possible for the troops and survivors of the earthquake to live more or less comfortably in the open. Occasionally there are earth shocks, but the people have become accustomed to them. Two severe shocks on Friday brought down many broken walls in Messina.

Gen. Mezza, who is in supreme command, has adopted stringent measures in order to protect the people and the people's property. In addition to establishing a police, service around the city, he has issued orders that any person found excavating without a permit shall be shot. Gen. Mezza's command extends to both sides of the straits. In an interview he said that some semblance of order was at last being re-established. The work is now systematized and the situation, he believed, is well in hand.

Distributing the Bayern's Cargo. The American relief ship Bayern, flying the Red Cross flag, arrived here at sundown on Friday. A small amount of clothing was sent to the American consulate and the remainder of the stores are being distributed to the various ports along the south-

Ambassador Giamoni remained on the Bayern until Saturday when he returned to Naples for the purpose of preventing Rear Admiral Sperry to the king.

Culgoa's Stores Landed. The United States supply ship Culgoa, which arrived here from Port Said on Friday, carried 130 tons of provisions, including 5,000 pounds of coffee, a big supply of macaroni, cereals, bread, dried fruit, meats and enormous quantities of fresh vegetables. The vessel was well stocked with blankets, caps, underclothes, trousers, jumpers, overcoats, shoes, jackets and other wearing apparel. After a conference between Commander Patton of the Culgoa, Commander Logan of the Scorpion, Maj. Landis, military attaché, and the Italian admiral, the stores of the Culgoa were sent ashore and were distributed from this point.

Many of the woman refugees have been set to work making garments, even those who are suffering from injuries helping in the work as it aids convalescence and helps to distract their minds from the disaster.

Even Little Quam Helps. Guam, Jan. 11.—Residents of the little island of Guam in mid-Pacific, both natives and Americans have raised a fund of $125 for the relief of Italian earthquake sufferers. This sum was the receipts of a concert and vaudeville show given at the naval college and has been sent to the National Red Cross at Washington.

GOVERNORS ARE INSTALLED.

Hadley in Missouri and Harris in Ohio Take Office.

Jefferson City, Mo., Jan. 11.—Horbert S. Hadley was inaugurated governor of Missouri today. He is the first Republican governor of Missouri since 1871 and the Republicans enlisted the state militia to make the inauguration a brilliant affair.

Columbus, O., Jan. 11.—Gov. Andrew L. Harris of Eaton was succeeded at noon today by Ohio's executive by John Harmon of Cincinnati, attorney general of the United States during the second term of President Cleveland. About 100,000 visitors were here. The oath of office was administered to Judge Harmon by Chief Justice W. B. Crow of the supreme court. Then followed a parade, in which 25,000 people took part. Beginning at six o'clock this evening, the new governor will receive thousands of citizens at a public reception.

YOUNG EDUCATOR A SUICIDE.

Prof. Clark Tanby of Lawrenceville School Shoots Himself.

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 11.—Clark Tanby, professor of Greek and Latin at the Lawrenceville Preparatory school, committed suicide late Saturday by shooting himself through the right temple in his room in the Hunnill house. He was a graduate of the University of Kentucky and of Oxford university, being a Rhodes scholar at the latter institution until last June. It is believed that he was suffering from overwork. The dead man was a resident of Hopkinstown, Ky., and came to Lawrenceville as professor last September when barely 20 years old. His body was found under a steamer rug on the floor of his room. The trigger of his revolver had been pulled twice, one cartridge having failed to explode.

Dry It In Jansville.

Work of Women Inventors. Women are said to have been issued more than 4,000 patents by the United States office. They are not all domestic by any means, either, as some of them are for car couplers, night signaling, life rafts, car wheels, machines for manufacturing ozone and a typewriter for the blind. A pocket sewing machine and a wash that will go up without affecting are other inventions by women.

ANOTHER WOMAN CURED

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Gardner, Maine.—"I have been a great sufferer from organic troubles and a severe female weakness. The doctor said I would have to go to the hospital for an operation, but I could not bear to think of it. I decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash—and was entirely cured after three months' use of them."—Mrs. S. A. WILLIAMS, R. F. D. No. 14, Box 30, Gardner, Me.

No woman should submit to a surgical operation, when any mean death, until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made exclusively from roots and herbs, a fair trial.

This famous medicine for women has for thirty years proved to be the most valuable tonic and renewer of the female organism. Women residing in almost every city and town in the United States bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It cures female ills, and creates radiant, buoyant female health. If you are ill, for your own sake as well as those you love, give it a trial.

Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

CHAPTER XXIII. The End of the World.

"I'm sure, Mr. Blake—" "Beats a hurricane all hollow—Mrs. St. Ileg's Valerette chop-choy tea and young Mrs. Vandam-Jones' auto-cotton—with us sitting here like troglodytes, chomping snake-poisoned antelope, and you in that Kundry dress—" "Do you—I was not aware that you knew about music." "Don't know a note. But give me a chance to hear good music and I'm there if I have to stand in the paint-gallery." "Oh, I'm so glad! I'm very, very fond of music! Have you been to Bayreuth?" "Where's that?" "In Germany. It is where his operas are given as staged by Wagner himself. It is indescribably grand and inspiring—above all, the Parsifal!" "I'll most certainly take that in, even if I have to cut short my engagement in this god-forsaken climate—not but what, when it comes to leopard ladies—" He paused and surveyed her with frank admiration. "The blood leaped into her face. "Oh!" she gasped. "I never dreamed that even such a man as you would compare me with—with a creature like that!" "Such a man as you?" repeated Blake, staring. "What do you mean? I know I'm not much of a ladies' man; but to be yanked up like this when a fellow is trying to pay a compliment—well, it's not just what you'd call pleasant." "I beg your pardon, Mr. Blake. I misunderstood. I—" "That's all right, Miss Jenny! I don't ask any lady to beg my pardon. The only thing is I don't see why you should flatter me at me that way." "For a full minute she sat, with down-beat head, her face clouded with doubt and indecision. At last she bravely raised her eyes to meet his. "Do you wonder that I am not quite myself?" she asked. "You should remember that I have always had the utmost comforts of life and have been cared for. Don't you see how terrible it is for me? And then the death of—" "I can't be sorry for that!" "But even you felt how terrible it was—and then—Oh, surely, you must see how—how embarrassing—" It was Blake's turn to look down and hesitate. She studied his face, her bosom heaving with quick-drawn breath; but she could make nothing of his square jaw and firm-set lips. His eyes were concealed by the brim of his hat. When he spoke, seemingly it was to change the subject: "Guess you saw me making my hut."

"I'm fixing it so I'll do me even when it rains."

"I had been the kind of man that she had been educated to consider as alone entitled to the name of gentleman, who could have felt certain that he had intended the remark for a delicately worded assurance. But was Tom Blake, for all his blunt kindness, capable of such tact? She chose to consider that he was.

"It's a cunning little bangalow. But will not the rain flood you out?" "It's going to have a ruled floor. You're more like to have the rain drive in on you again. I'll have to fix up a porch over your door. It won't do to stuff up the hole. You've little enough air as it is. But that can wait a while. There's other work to be done. First, there's the bar-cleaver. By the time that's done those hyena skins will be cured enough to use. I've got to have new trousers soon, and new shoes, too."

"I can do the sewing, if you will cut out the patterns."

"No, I'll take a stagger at it myself first. I'd rather you'd go easier. You need to run around more, to keep in trim."

"I feel quite well now, and I am growing so strong! The only thing is this constant heat."

"We'll have to grin and bear it."

At first every accent of the cliff was ambushed by a painful consciousness of the cat's paw over the north edge. Fortunately it was not in sight from the direct path to the headland, and, as she refrained from visiting it, the new happenings of her wild life soon thrust Whitnops and his death out of the foreground of her thoughts. Each day she had to nerve herself to meet the beaks and wings of the despoiled nest-owners; each day she looked with greater hope for the expected rescue ship, only to be increasingly disappointed.

But the hours she spent on the cliff crest after gathering the day's supply of eggs were not spent merely in watching and longing. The inconvenience of carrying the eggs in a handkerchief or in one of the heavy jars suggested a renewal of her attempt at basket-making. Memory, perseverance and a tree of inventiveness enabled her to produce a small but serviceable hamper of split bamboo.

Encouraged by this success she gathered a quantity of tough, wiry grass, and wove a hat to take the place of the flimsy palm-leaf make-shift. The result was by no means satisfactory, with regard to style, its shape being intermediate between a Mexican sombrero and a funnel; but aside from its appearance, she could not have wished for a more comfortable head-cover. Before showing it to Blake, she wore a second one for him, so that they were able to cast aside the grotesque, palm-leaf affairs at the same time.

"I'm fixing it so I'll do me even when it rains."

After all, it's not so bad. If only we can stave off the fever. Another reason I want you to go for eggs is that

ENVOY OF VENEZUELA IS WELCOMED TO PARIS

Dr. Paul Hopes for Early Settlement of All His Country's International Disputes.

Paris, Jan. 11.—Venezuelan resident in Paris gave a hearty welcome to Dr. Jose de Jesus Paul, special envoy from Venezuela, when he arrived here from Bordeaux last evening.

In an interview M. Paul outlined the objects of his visit to Europe. Speaking of the relations between Venezuela and the United States, he said:

"Venezuela hopes and expects to resume her old-time friendly connections and proposes to settle satisfactorily all questions pending between the two countries. The arrival of the American commissioner, Mr. Buchanan, at Caracas, is an important step in this direction."

M. Paul considered the reestablishment of a Venezuelan consular service at the French ports a most important sequence in the resumption of diplomatic relations with France. Speaking of the home situation, he declared that the downfall of Castro was the result of a conflict between the country's ambition to carry on peaceful internal and foreign policies and the policies of Castro, which were rapidly jeopardizing the independence of Venezuela.

"What was the real cause of Castro's fall?" M. Paul was asked. "It was brought about," replied the envoy, "by the necessity of averting a revolution."

"What is Castro's present standing in Venezuela?" was asked. "It is that of a man," replied M. Paul, "opposed to his country's aspirations and whose personal politics are incompatible with those of the Venezuelan people. Venezuelans are weary of one man's domination."

"And if Castro returns to Venezuela?" was suggested. "Ah," responded M. Paul slowly and with a smile, "that is for the people to decide."

M. Paul expects to open negotiations with the French government within a few days.

CRIMES LAID TO BAD TEETH.

Novel Theory of Dr. Henry Upson of Cleveland.

Cleveland, O., Jan. 11.—Prominent criminologists and alienists throughout the country are interested in the experimental work of Dr. Henry Upson, a distinguished neurologist of this city, who believes that criminal instincts, as well as many nervous disorders and even insanity, are caused in numerous instances by defective teeth. Dr. Upson has already produced marked beneficial effects upon patients at the Newburgh Insane asylum by simple dental operations.

Arrangements have been made by which Dr. Upson will during the coming week begin experiments upon prisoners at the workhouse. The X-ray machine is used to determine whether or not the teeth or their roots are defective. This test also develops any pressure of the roots on the various nerves leading from the mouth to the brain. Dr. Upson bases his belief upon the theory that insanity and crime are correlated.

Chinese Envoy Leaves Washington.

Washington, Jan. 11.—Tung Shao-Yi, the special Chinese ambassador to the United States, whose mission in Washington has been cut short on account of illness, left here yesterday accompanied for Springfield, Mass., where he is to visit some friends of his earlier days when he attended school in this country. Later he will go to Hartford, Conn., and thence to New York, whence he sails on January 19 for home, by way of Europe.

Odd Fellows in a Collision.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 11.—A special car on the Flint division of the Detroit United Railway, carrying about 60 Odd Fellows returning to Detroit from a Flint meeting, collided with the milk train near Royal Oak yesterday. Motorman Herbert Atkinson of the milk train, had his right arm so badly crushed it was probably have to be amputated and Joseph P. Howe, Edward Dunbar and W. C. Garrison were seriously cut and bruised.

The One Thing of Consequence.

What we think, what we know, or what we believe, is in the end of little consequence. The only thing of consequence is what we do.—Ruskin.

REGULARS 'ROB' A WATCHMAN.

Three Soldiers Tie, Gag and Plunder Their Victim.

New York, Jan. 11.—Tied to a chair, with his ankles stuffed by a gag forced far back in his throat, with the muzzle of a pistol, Harry Rawlinson, night watchman for a contracting company in its stables on West Fifteenth street, was robbed by three soldiers from Fort Hancock early yesterday.

Two of the soldiers were captured and the police say they have confessed to participation in the crime. The prisoners assert, however, that the third man, who escaped, really planned the hold-up, went through the victim's pockets and took $53 in cash from the watchman.

The two soldiers gave their names as Charles Hanley of the Ninety-fifth Coast artillery and Emil Plig of the Forty-eighth Coast artillery.

Pope Bids Ireland Adieu.

Rome, Jan. 11.—Pope Pius yesterday received Archbishop Ireland in private faroed audience. His holiness expressed to the archbishop his admiration of and gratitude to the American people for their aid in the earthquake sufferers, saying that they are taking in giving aid to the earthquake sufferers, saying "America always is first." The pontiff authorized Archbishop Ireland to convey the apostolic benediction to the American people.

Convicted of Jury Bribing.

Lafayette, Ind., Jan. 11.—After being out four hours the jury in the trial of William H. Bell, a well-known horseman charged with jury bribing, brought in a verdict Saturday of guilty. The punishment is an indeterminate term of from two to fourteen years in state's prison.

Another Real Daughter of Revolution.

Dear Isle, Me, Jan. 11.—Mrs. Salome Sellers, 108 years old, a real daughter of the revolution, and said to be the oldest person in New England, is dead at her home in this town. Mrs. Sellers was born in this place and lived here all her life.

Explosion on Canal Kills One.

Panama, Jan. 11.—A premature explosion occurred yesterday at Curacema, on the lagoon of the Panama canal. One man was killed instantly and eight men were badly hurt.
